Ecom-Website API

Customers Routes

Sign Up Customers Route GET Link: localhost:5000/api/customers/signUpCustomers Request: GET Data: null, since it's a GET request, it returns back the signUpCustomers page Sign Up Customers Route POST Link: localhost:5000/api/customers/signUpCustomers Request: POST

Data: { "email" : "FirstCustomer@gmail.com" , "password": "543210" }

```
Sign In Customers Route
                            GET
       localhost:5000/api/customers/signInCustomers
Link:
Request: GET
Data: null, since it's a get request.
Sign Up Customers Route
                            POST
       localhost:5000/api/customers/signInCustomers
Link:
Request: POST
Data: { "email" : "FirstCustomer@gmail.com" , "password": "543210" }
Protected Route
Link:
       localhost:5000/api/customers/loggedCustomers
```

Header: { "x-auth-token": "place the returned generated token file" }

Stocks Routes

• Extract Stocks By ID

• Extract Stocks By Vendor ID

Add New Stock

• Update Stock by ID

```
Link: localhost:5000/api/stocks/update stock
```

Link: localhost:5000/api/stocks/add stock

• Delete Stocks by ID

Link: localhost:5000/api/stocks/delete_stock

Request: DELETE

Data: { "stock_id": "60446bde307ff7f4497109d0",

"stock_name": "" }

Vendors Routes

• Sign Up Vendors Route GET

Link: localhost:5000/api/vendors/signUpVendors

Request: GET

Data: null, since it's a get request, it just returns back the signUpVendors page.

• Sign Up Vendors Route POST

Link: localhost:5000/api/vendors/signUpVendors

Request: POST

Data: { "email" : "FirstVendor@gmail.com" , "password": "543210" }

Sign In Vendors Route GET

Request: GET

Data: null, since it's a get request, it just returns back the page for signInVendors

• Sign In Vendors Route POST

Link: localhost:5000/api/vendors/signInVendors

Request: POST

Data: { "email" : "FirstVendor@gmail.com" , "password": "543210" }

• Protected Route GET

Link: localhost:5000/api/customers/loggedVendors

Header: { "x-auth-token": "place_the_returned_generated_token_file" }